About Your Presenters:

CATTLE – Buddy Haas

Buddy Haas is from Elburn, IL and raises and shows club calf and shorthorn cattle. He is currently attending the University of Illinois and will be receiving a Bachelor’s Degree in Animal Science. During his time at the University of Illinois, Buddy was a member of the Meats Judging Team, the Meat Animal Evaluation Team and the Livestock Judging Team. He is currently employed with Top Sires.

SHEEP – Mark Johnson

Mark Johnson is a graduate of Oklahoma State University, and along with his wife Amy and daughter Emily, owns A & M Ranch in Sandwich, IL. A & M Ranch is Southdown Flock that was established in 1979 and has produced several National Champions. Mark has judged breeding sheep and market lamb shows from California to Massachusetts, including 16 different NAILE Shows.

Mark is a Livestock and Equine Sales Specialist for Purina Animal Nutrition and works in the Northern IL and Southern WI areas. Mark also serves as National Ambassador for Honor Show Chow® feeds and provides technical information to the nutritionists and educational programming for sales staff and customers.

SWINE – Lance Miller

Lance Miller has been involved in showing livestock his entire life, beginning with sheep. He fed and exhibited his first showpig in 1989 and was named Champion at the County Fair. He continued to competitively show swine at the State and Regional levels and especially excelled in the showmanship ring. Lance has stayed involved with the showpig industry by judging swine shows, coaching collegiate livestock judging teams and raising showpigs with the help of his wife and two children.
